OPEN GARDENS AND POP UPS IN VILLAGE HOUSES

- A 16 Dallam Ave: Saltaire Shiatsu is open for mini sessions of stress-busting acupressure massage. Plus contrasting open gardens to front and rear, with space to sit and linger. Sculpture by Joanne Riselý - large, organic forms based on repeated patterns found in nature.
- B 73 Albert Rd: This garden began five years ago in the place of a demolished garage. The main planting area is slightly sunken, and the front is defined by a dry-stone wall. Sculpture by Sam Yates - stained glass work based on ferns and organic forms.
- a 61 Albert Rd, Connie Tu, Henna Artist: (entrance on Caroline St via backyard). Natural, freshly mixed and freehand applied henna body art. Designs start from £5 and last for 6-10 days. Drop-in introductory henna workshops throughout the day for you to have a go at the ancient art of mehndi.
- b 37 Albert Rd, Frock-A-Hula Vintage and Retro: clothes and homewares including Saltaire Softies re-imagined woollens.
- C 21 Albert Rd: A back yard with pots is complemented by a side garden with lawn and borders. Alongside this, Michael's pop up offers cards, coasters, jewellery and other decorative items. Sculpture by Anne-Marie Lowe - Decorative glass panels, inspired by fractals and peacock feathers; Sculpture by Lou Gilmore George - abstract pieces, made from found materials.
- D 7 Albert Rd: Front gardens with shingle, sleepers and a flower bed; in the backyard there is a variety of pots. Sculpture by the Potting Studio - ceramic garden sculpture.
- E 3 Albert Rd: Relaxed green space with hints of French and Japanese influences. Gardened on Darwinian-style "survival of the fittest" principles. Sculpture by Terence Lister - carved stone and bronze sculpture.
- F 3 Katherine St: Think of a typical herbaceous border, lots of green and a fair few roses. The owner's sanctuary with enough seating and space to eat for three. Sculpture by Lola Awada - magical forms, designed to create a sense of wonder and hope.
- C 2 Dove St 'Cake-Away': (access to the cake-away and pop up cafe via the back alley). The Dove Bakery with everything baked onsite in our 5* Environmental Health village kitchen. To take away or enjoy in the pop-up café in our beautiful yard. Vegan and GF available.
- d 16 Mary St, Craft for All Ages: (enter through the gate in the back alley). Peg doll creations and collage. Information on the history of the Wash House available. Tea, hot chocolate, juice, buns and cake for sale. Please leave pushchairs outside the gate.

- G 30 Mary St: Small backyard with pots featuring late summer annuals, perennials and shrubs. Sculpture by Penelope Hayes - figurative, ceramic sculpture.
- e 13 Herbert St, Songs and Soups: Following on from last year's piano singalong success, Shane will take song requests and his friend Helen will provide the delicious homemade soups. Performance times are 2.30pm-3pm & 3.30pm-4.30pm on Saturday & 1pm-1.30pm, 2pm-2.30pm & 3pm-3.30pm on Sunday.
- f 14 Caroline St, Sacpot: colourful knitted plant pots in recyclable polypropylene for sale. Easy to assemble. Fun to shape and fill. Tough, resilient and light.
- H The Old Wash House, Caroline St: The front beds in this garden, where the Wash House once stood, contain herbs and other edible plants grown by Veg on the Edge. Back beds maintained by local residents. Buskers' Bench can also be found here! Music and fun from some of the region's finest street musicians. Artistes' CDs available to buy.
- I 49 Caroline St: ZEN, a relaxing, meditative and tranquil space. Local artwork of Saltaire on show. Sculpture by Katherine Watson - organic, hand-built ceramics.
- J 64 George St: A traditional Saltaire backyard container garden. The garden features geraniums and fuchsias in pots and hanging baskets as well as clematis, lavender and roses. Sculpture by Cian Carroll - aluminium and copper flowers.
- K 6 Albert Terr: Beachcombers' Garden with driftwood and rusty items from foreshores. Shells and sea washed glass with hand-cut tin fish flying in the tree. Some plants from a coastal environment. Sculpture by Galina Titova - colourful, felted sea creatures.
- L Platform 1 at Saltaire Station: Cared for by local group Veg on the Edge, these community growing beds explore Saltaire's international connections and heritage roots. Supported by Shipley College.
- M Behind the United Reformed Church, Victoria Road: Canalside allotment gardens in an idyllic setting. A sustainable site with vegetables, fruit, flowers and bees. Produce and refreshments for sale.
- g 76 Victoria Road, Lino Printing and Letterpress: (access through the back yard). Printing demonstrations using a selection of old presses. Limited edition hand printed linocut prints will be for sale.
- N 15 Victoria Road (access from Titus St): Large backyard garden. Also, a pop up coffee stand serving our locally roasted coffee and home-made cakes. Sculpture by Sarah Strachan - abstract, mixed media pieces based on environmental concerns.
